

Stefan Wolf — YouTube Rough Cut Brief

Video 1 | June 2026 | "Founder's Update"

Target Length: 10–14 minutes Reference Energy: Greg LaVecchia, Logan Paul — founder documentary meets hype brand film.

SECTION 1 — COLD OPEN / INTRO

Tone: No dialogue except the teaser line. All music. All energy. Target Length: 0:00 – 0:50

Pull in rapid sequence — every cut under 2 seconds: - Desert/sunrise B-roll from Papago (best 3 of 7 clips — lead with the rainbow shot) - Trail running drone pass over Papago - Running action on trail - Global Run Day crowd footage — movement, energy - Quick flash of Stefan in the office — candid, natural - Stefan at Papago tailgate — 1–2 second pull - Lemonade stand footage — tease it early, don't explain it - SkyMD product close-up -

TEASER: Stefan says "This is going to be the hottest new flavor of the summer." — flash it here, 2 seconds, no context, cut immediately - End: smash cut to black or freeze frame → silence → Stefan starts talking

Editor note: One line of dialogue, then silence. The teaser creates curiosity. Don't over-explain anything in this section.

SECTION 2 — PAPAGO MORNING RUN: THE BIG UPDATES

Tone: Raw, real, authentic. Hook the viewer with the wins early. This is where the video earns attention. Target Length: 0:50 – 5:30

Open with: 30 seconds of pure Papago B-roll — trail, desert, drone, sunrise. Music-driven. No talking yet. Let the location breathe.

Then: C4425 — Tailgate Vlog (3:36) — USE MOST OF THIS

Stefan's audio runs → visuals constantly cut to: - Trail running footage - Drone passes over Papago - Rainbow B-roll - Desert landscape - SkyMD product shots - Global Run Day footage - Community moments

Pull in this order (audio-driven, visuals floating underneath): 1. Trail run recap — brief scene setter, 20–30 seconds 2. $20K SALES DAY — emotional peak. STAY ON HIS FACE. Do not cut away. Let it land fully. Then cut to product shot or celebratory B-roll. 3. $1.3M PURCHASE ORDER — one-two punch immediately after. Stay on his face for delivery, then cut to brand/product B-roll. 4. National Hydration Week preview — John Peel giveaway, Wendy Green. Cover with relevant footage.

Then: C4426 — Strategy Session (13:04) — AUDIO ONLY, 2–3 min max

Cover almost everything with B-roll. Almost never show the raw talking head.

Priority pull moments: - "$2K a day → $20K a day → road to $1M/month by end of summer" — best line in the video if he says it clean. Find it. - First responder initiative + 5% profits donation — mission moment. Cover with first responder footage if available. - Team growth/restructuring — shows momentum. Cover with team/office B-roll.

Editor note: Putting Papago second hooks the viewer with the wins before anything else. The $20K and $1.3M moments are the emotional anchor of the whole video — hit them early and hard.

SECTION 3 — OFFICE: SLEEP FORMULA + PACKAGING

Tone: Founder building something real. Educational but personal. Keep it moving. Target Length: 5:30 – 8:00

Open with: Stefan on camera in the office — find his first strong line and start there. Cut any warmup.

Editing pattern: Stefan talks 15–20 seconds MAX → cut to B-roll → return to Stefan or keep audio under B-roll. Never on his face more than 20 seconds without a visual break.

Pull moments (in order): 1. Stefan opening the sleep formula conversation — energy sets the tone 2. Ingredient stack breakdown — audio carries while you cut to product shots, bag close-ups, ingredient visuals 3. Garmin sleep data story — strong personal founder moment. Let it breathe 30–45 seconds. Support with wearable/data B-roll. 4. "No melatonin = no grogginess" — find this exact line. Use it straight to camera. 5. Packaging review — Stefan holding the new bag, reading the tagline. 30 seconds. Cut to bag close-up as he talks. 6. "5% donated" — brief, powerful.

B-roll to layer throughout: - Product close-ups, new packaging - Office environment, Stefan's hands - Any recovery/sleep lifestyle footage

Editor note: This section introduces the product builder side of Stefan. Medium pacing — not as fast as the intro, but never static.

SECTION 4 — STEFAN'S HOUSE: MARKETING MEETING + RASPBERRY LAUNCH

Tone: Operator mode. Real conversations. Behind the curtain of a fast-growing brand. Target Length: 8:00 – 10:00

Open with: Establishing B-roll of Stefan working from home / backyard. Show the founder-at-home environment before any dialogue.

Editing pattern: Zoom call footage almost never shows the screen. Audio carries, B-roll covers everything.

Pull moments (in order): 1. Backyard or home establishing shot — 10 seconds of atmosphere 2. Zoom meeting audio — strongest 60–90 seconds around creatine launch and raspberry positioning. Bury under B-roll. 3.

Raspberry launch — clearest 20–30 second take on the flavor, why now. Cover with product footage. 4. Ice bath moment — visual transition between topics. 5 seconds here wakes the video up. 5. Founder phone call outside — lifestyle B-roll, music underneath, no dialogue needed.

B-roll to layer throughout: - Raspberry product close-ups - Stefan's backyard / home office - Ice bath - Outdoor founder phone call

Editor note: The Zoom footage is functional, not cinematic. Bury it under B-roll and let the audio do the storytelling. This section builds toward the Strawberry Lemonade payoff coming next.

SECTION 5 — STRAWBERRY LEMONADE LAUNCH

Tone: Hype. Product moment. Summer energy. Make this feel like a brand milestone. Target Length: 10:00 – 12:30

This section should feel like the most exciting product launch of the summer. Use every visual tool available — color, movement, reaction, energy.

Open with: Lemonade stand footage — establishing the vibe. Bright, summery, fun. Music up. Let it breathe for 15–20 seconds before any dialogue.

Editing pattern: Fast cuts. Product close-ups between every talking moment. Reaction footage layered in. This is the most visually energetic section of the video after the intro.

Pull moments (in order):

1. Lemonade stand footage — open here. Establish the fun, summery feel. Community energy. People trying it for the first time.
2. Five Star flavor reactions — Stefan walking the floor, handing out Strawberry Lemonade, watching people try it. Pull the best reaction moments. These are pure gold — authentic, unscripted, real.
3. Stefan on the flavor — find his clearest take on why Strawberry Lemonade, why now, what makes it different. Cover with product footage, pour shots, reaction clips.
4. THE LINE — Full delivery: "This is going to be the hottest new flavor of the summer." Use it straight to camera. This is the climax of the section. Stay on his face. Then cut to product — slow pour, ice, the full visual moment.

B-roll to layer throughout: - Lemonade stand setup and energy - Product pour shots — make them beautiful - Strawberry Lemonade close-ups - Flavor reaction moments from Five Star - Stefan handing out samples - Crowd/community energy

Editor note: Treat this like a product launch trailer embedded inside the video. Every cut should make the viewer want to try Strawberry Lemonade. Color grade this section slightly warmer/brighter if possible — summer tones.

SECTION 6 — OUTRO

Tone: Warm, forward momentum. Leave them feeling like they're on the journey. Target Length: 12:30 – 13:30

- Find a natural closing moment from C4425 or C4426

- Call to action: VIP program, new flavors, follow the journey
- Optional closing line: If Stefan's "This is going to be the hottest new flavor of the summer" lands well as a final beat — end on it. Third use of the line, closes the loop from the intro teaser.
- End on B-roll — desert, product pour, or Papago running shot with music fading out
- Final frame: SkyMD Strawberry Lemonade product or logo

MUSIC DIRECTION

Philosophy: Not every section should use rap or hype tracks. Match the music to the emotional tone of the section. A product launch moment at a lemonade stand should feel light and fun — not aggressive. A business milestone moment should feel cinematic and earned. Read the room, then pick the track.

PACING RULES

1. No talking head longer than 20 seconds without a visual break
2. Every location transition = opportunity for a music swell or cut
3. If you're bored watching a section, the viewer is too — cut it
4. Stefan's audio is the spine. Visuals should always be moving.
5. When in doubt, add B-roll and keep the audio running underneath
6. The Strawberry Lemonade section should be the most visually energetic section after the intro

EDITING PHILOSOPHY FOR THIS VIDEO

Stefan's A-roll is the backbone. His voice carries the story. But the visuals should NEVER stay still.

The rule: If Stefan has been on screen talking for more than 20 seconds, cut to B-roll. Keep his audio. Move the visuals.

The goal is to constantly bounce between: - Papago trail / desert / drone - Office and backyard founder moments - Workouts and action footage - SkyMD product shots - Community footage / events - Lemonade stand / flavor reaction footage - Zoom call / BTS founder life

Less podcast. More documentary. More movement. More energy.

Every time you think "this has been talking too long" — you're right. Cut to B-roll, add music, jump to another location.

THE KEY LINE — USE IT THREE TIMES

"This is going to be the hottest new flavor of the summer."

1. Intro (teaser): Flash it early — 1–2 seconds of Stefan saying this line with no context, then cut away. Plant the seed.
2. Section 5 (Strawberry Lemonade): Full delivery, straight to camera. This is the section's climax.
3. Outro (optional): If it lands cleanly as a closing line, end the video on it. Leave viewers excited for what's next.
